

FOODSERVICE DIRECTOR'S RANKING OF THE NATION'S STANDOUT NONCOMMERCIAL OPERATIONS IS BACK.

LARGE AND IN CHARGE

Would last year's Top 100 Noncommercial Operations stand the test of time? That's what FSD set out to discover in our second annual presentation of B&I, C&U, K-12 and hospital locations by 2016 food and beverage sales (or in the case of senior living, the largest 2016 resident capacity).

As it turns out, a lot can change in a year. While the New York City Department of Education (K-12), Brookdale Senior Living and Microsoft's

Redmond Campus (B&I) held on to their top spots, there were some pretty big shakeups among the higher rankings in C&U and hospitals. Flip through for our 2017 rankings, and visit FoodServiceDirector.com for 2016's complete list. —FSD Editors

METHODOLOGY

The Top 100 is a measure of the largest noncommercial foodservice operations by 2016 U.S. food and beverage sales (except for senior living, for which food and beverage revenues were not available). Relevant information is accrued using a combination of public records, direct operator surveying and proprietary valuation algorithms. Technomic believes its sources of information are reliable, but does not assume any liability for the accuracy or comprehensiveness of the information published.
